

Brooklyn College Foundation Annual Report 2007–2008

Transforming Lives

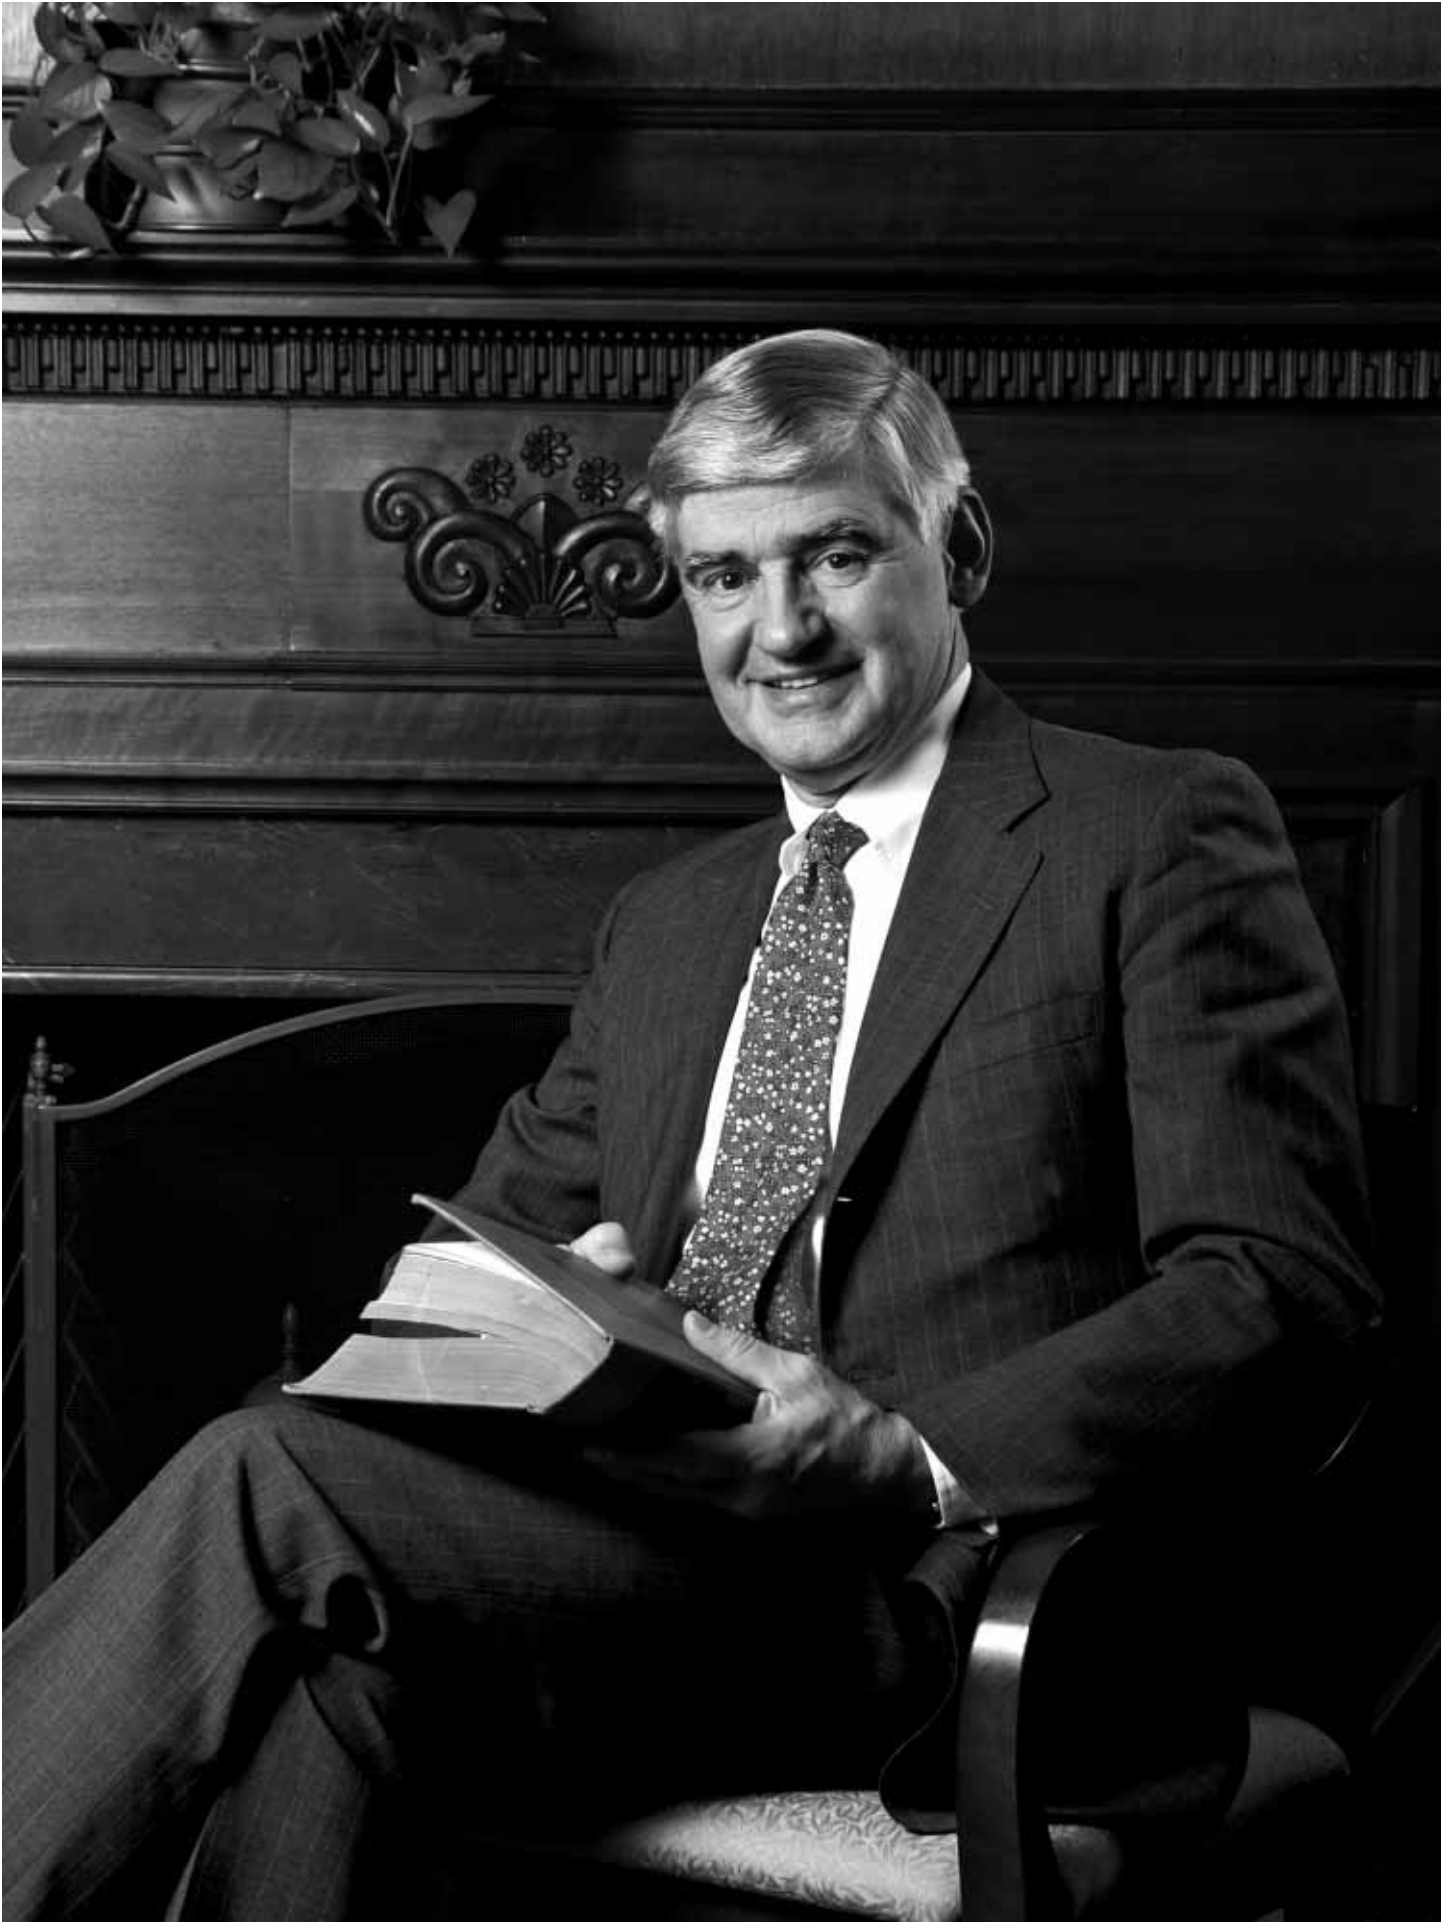

The First Step

The doors to Brooklyn College are the doors to opportunity.

Compared with other institutions of higher education, a great many of our students shoulder substantial responsibilities, and many are the first in their family to attend college.

Diverse in background, interests, and ambition, they share the certainty that higher education is the way to a productive and rewarding future.

For many, that future will be secured with the help of the Brooklyn College Foundation

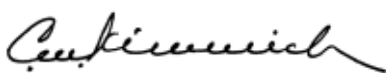

Dear Friends of Brooklyn College

For students—past and present—Brooklyn College stands as a gateway to a rewarding life. They come because they want to become effective leaders in their chosen profession and engaged citizens of the world. They come because they have heard of our commitment to academic quality and to helping them reach their goals. This commitment is at the heart of who we are and what we do.

We have held firm to this principle throughout my presidency and, as I leave Brooklyn College this summer, I am especially proud of what we have done together to give it life and to sustain it. Last fall, we admitted a freshman class larger and better than the year before and we were joined by forty new faculty members, bringing the number of scholars and artists we have recruited over the last nine years to 273, more than half the teaching faculty and more than we appointed in the previous three decades. We also welcomed a new Provost, Dr. William A. Tramontano, who brings proven leadership in initiating and implementing new academic programs. We recommitted ourselves to a stimulating and challenging new core curriculum. And this fall, we will cut the ribbon on the West Quad, the first new building in nearly fifty years.

Much of our continuing progress is supported by the Brooklyn College Foundation. Since 2000, when we initiated the first campaign for Brooklyn College, the Foundation has raised $100 million and built an endowment. Such generosity has enabled us to support students with scholarships and grants and to expand the number of available internships. It has allowed us to attract prominent scholars to endowed chairs in departments and programs to which they bring luster and distinction.

The Annual Report is a record of how the generosity of alumni and friends transforms the lives of our students—how scholarships, internships, and travel stipends affect the academic experience at the College, making it possible for students to open doors and transcend boundaries. It has been exhilarating to work with the trustees of the Brooklyn College Foundation, to draw on their expertise, diligence, and stewardship. I leave the College, confident that my successor will continue to build upon the success you have helped us achieve in these years and continue to work with you and the Foundation in assuring future generations of our commitment to excellence.

Christoph M. Kimmich

President

Dear Alumni and Friends

This year's Annual Report covers the period July 2007 through June 2008. This was the third year of my term as Chair of the Brooklyn College Foundation, and it is gratifying to reflect on our achievements together.

During this last year, the Brooklyn College Foundation continued to substantially support the College and its students. We were able to achieve this because of continuing improvements in our fundraising capacity and the generosity of our alumni. This year we raised some $11.2 million, and increased the number of gifts from 5,006 in FY07 to more than 7,600 in FY08. Gifts to the Annual Fund almost doubled.

More important than our fundraising, however, is our output, which included nearly 1,500 scholarships, more than 150 Honors College stipends, Broeklundian Professorships, myriad class gifts, travel stipends, and career internships.

Such tangible outcomes are enormously satisfying to me because they help our students achieve success at Brooklyn College and in their lives beyond the college experience.

We could not have made such progress without the expertise and engagement of a fully committed board of trustees. I am grateful to my colleagues for their support and tireless enthusiasm. I also wish to congratulate President Kimmich and the entire academic and administrative staff of Brooklyn College on a successful year.

I encourage you to join us in building the tradition of excellence at Brooklyn College. I know you will be extremely pleased by the results.

One Student's Path

Amanda Perez was at the top of her class at New Utrecht High School. From the beginning, she was an honors student and an active member of student organizations. She volunteered as stage crew for every major theater production and served as a peer mediator, helping to resolve conflicts among fellow students.

When it came time to think about college, Amanda aimed high. Given her record, she was an ideal candidate for any university suited to her ambition to become a broadcast journalist.

But there were other considerations: she was the only child of a seriously ill single mother who could no longer work as a teacher. Although she was aided by a large extended family, Amanda was her mother's primary caregiver.

Yet, mother and daughter never wavered in their desire that Amanda continue her education. They were confident that somehow—with the help of financial aid and, they hoped, a scholarship—Amanda would be able to afford the right school with the best journalism program possible.

Amanda applied to colleges that were noted for their journalism programs but were also close enough to home that she could continue to care for her mother. She was accepted at six: C.W. Post, Fordham University, the College of New Rochelle, Hofstra University, New York University—and Brooklyn College. Most awarded her some kind of assistance: NYU offered the most—a package that, along with work-study, would pay everything but $10,000 of each year's tuition.

Then the letter from Brooklyn College arrived, inviting her to join the newly established Honors College with all expenses paid—much of it through the Brooklyn College Foundation.

"I was really thrilled when the letter came, because when my mom and I visited the campus it felt like home. I got the sense from the people I talked to—the counselors and the faculty—that I wouldn't be just a social security number."

The Brooklyn College Foundation was with Amanda every step of the way—and not only by providing financial support.

The Foundation has advanced the College's honors programs in various ways, most significantly by establishing an endowed chair that brought to the College an outstanding intellectual historian who led a series of intensive seminars attended by Amanda's class.

In the summer after her freshman year, Amanda took advantage of the Magner Center for Career Development and Internships, which was established in 2003 through the generosity of a distinguished alumna. She was chosen for an internship at Channel 11, where she not only covered live news stories but also helped produce them.

In her junior year, she spent a semester in Rome—through funds that came, in part, from the Foundation. The trip was "eye-opening," she says. "I realized how important it was, especially for a journalist, to become familiar with different cultures." While she immersed herself in the study of Italian history, Amanda experienced something that she could never have felt in Brooklyn, with her heavy school load and family responsibilities—the joy of a carefree college student encountering an extraordinary world.

*“At the point
I really needed help, the school was there for me, and I know
I will always try to be there for Brooklyn College. I
giving back.”*

At Brooklyn College, Amanda found the academic encouragement and guidance she needed. She was urged to take more writing courses and to aspire to be a print reporter. She studied political science as well as history to gain a deeper understanding for the stories she hoped someday to cover. Her academic adviser became something of a “guardian angel,” watching over her as she struggled with both academic and life challenges.

Amanda’s dedication and hard work led her to be inducted into Phi Beta Kappa and the Golden Key International Honour Society, but she also found time to join the Television and Radio Club and to participate in the Save the Children Organization. She even sponsored an American soldier in Iraq, sending him monthly letters and care packages.

Her efforts crystallized in her junior and senior years. While working as an intern at the MTA program TransitTransit News Magazine, which is broadcast on PBS and Public Access cable television, Amanda pitched, wrote, reported, edited, and produced a short documentary about George Washington and the Battle of Long Island. It earned her an Emmy Award from the New York City Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Three months after the award, Amanda graduated summa cum laude, with her mother looking on. “The Emmy was great, but that my mom got to see me graduate! This was her biggest dream—she kept saying over and over to me, “The Lord is great.”

Amanda immediately began graduate studies in history at the College. A year later she lost her mother. Insurance covered her immediate expenses. But there was nothing more—not for the rent, and certainly not for tuition for her last year of graduate school.

At this low point in Amanda’s life, the Brooklyn College Foundation stepped forward to help once more.

“After my mom died, I was overwhelmed and so alone. But someone heard that I couldn’t pay tuition for my last year and, in August, I was given a scholarship that paid all my tuition and expenses until I could get back to work.”

Amanda completed her master’s degree and is now a field producer at Fox News and an adjunct instructor in broadcast journalism at Brooklyn College.

At twenty-five, Amanda has already accomplished so much, yet she can look forward to doing so much more.

“At the point I really needed help, the school was there for me, and I know I will always try to be there for Brooklyn College. I believe in giving back. ”

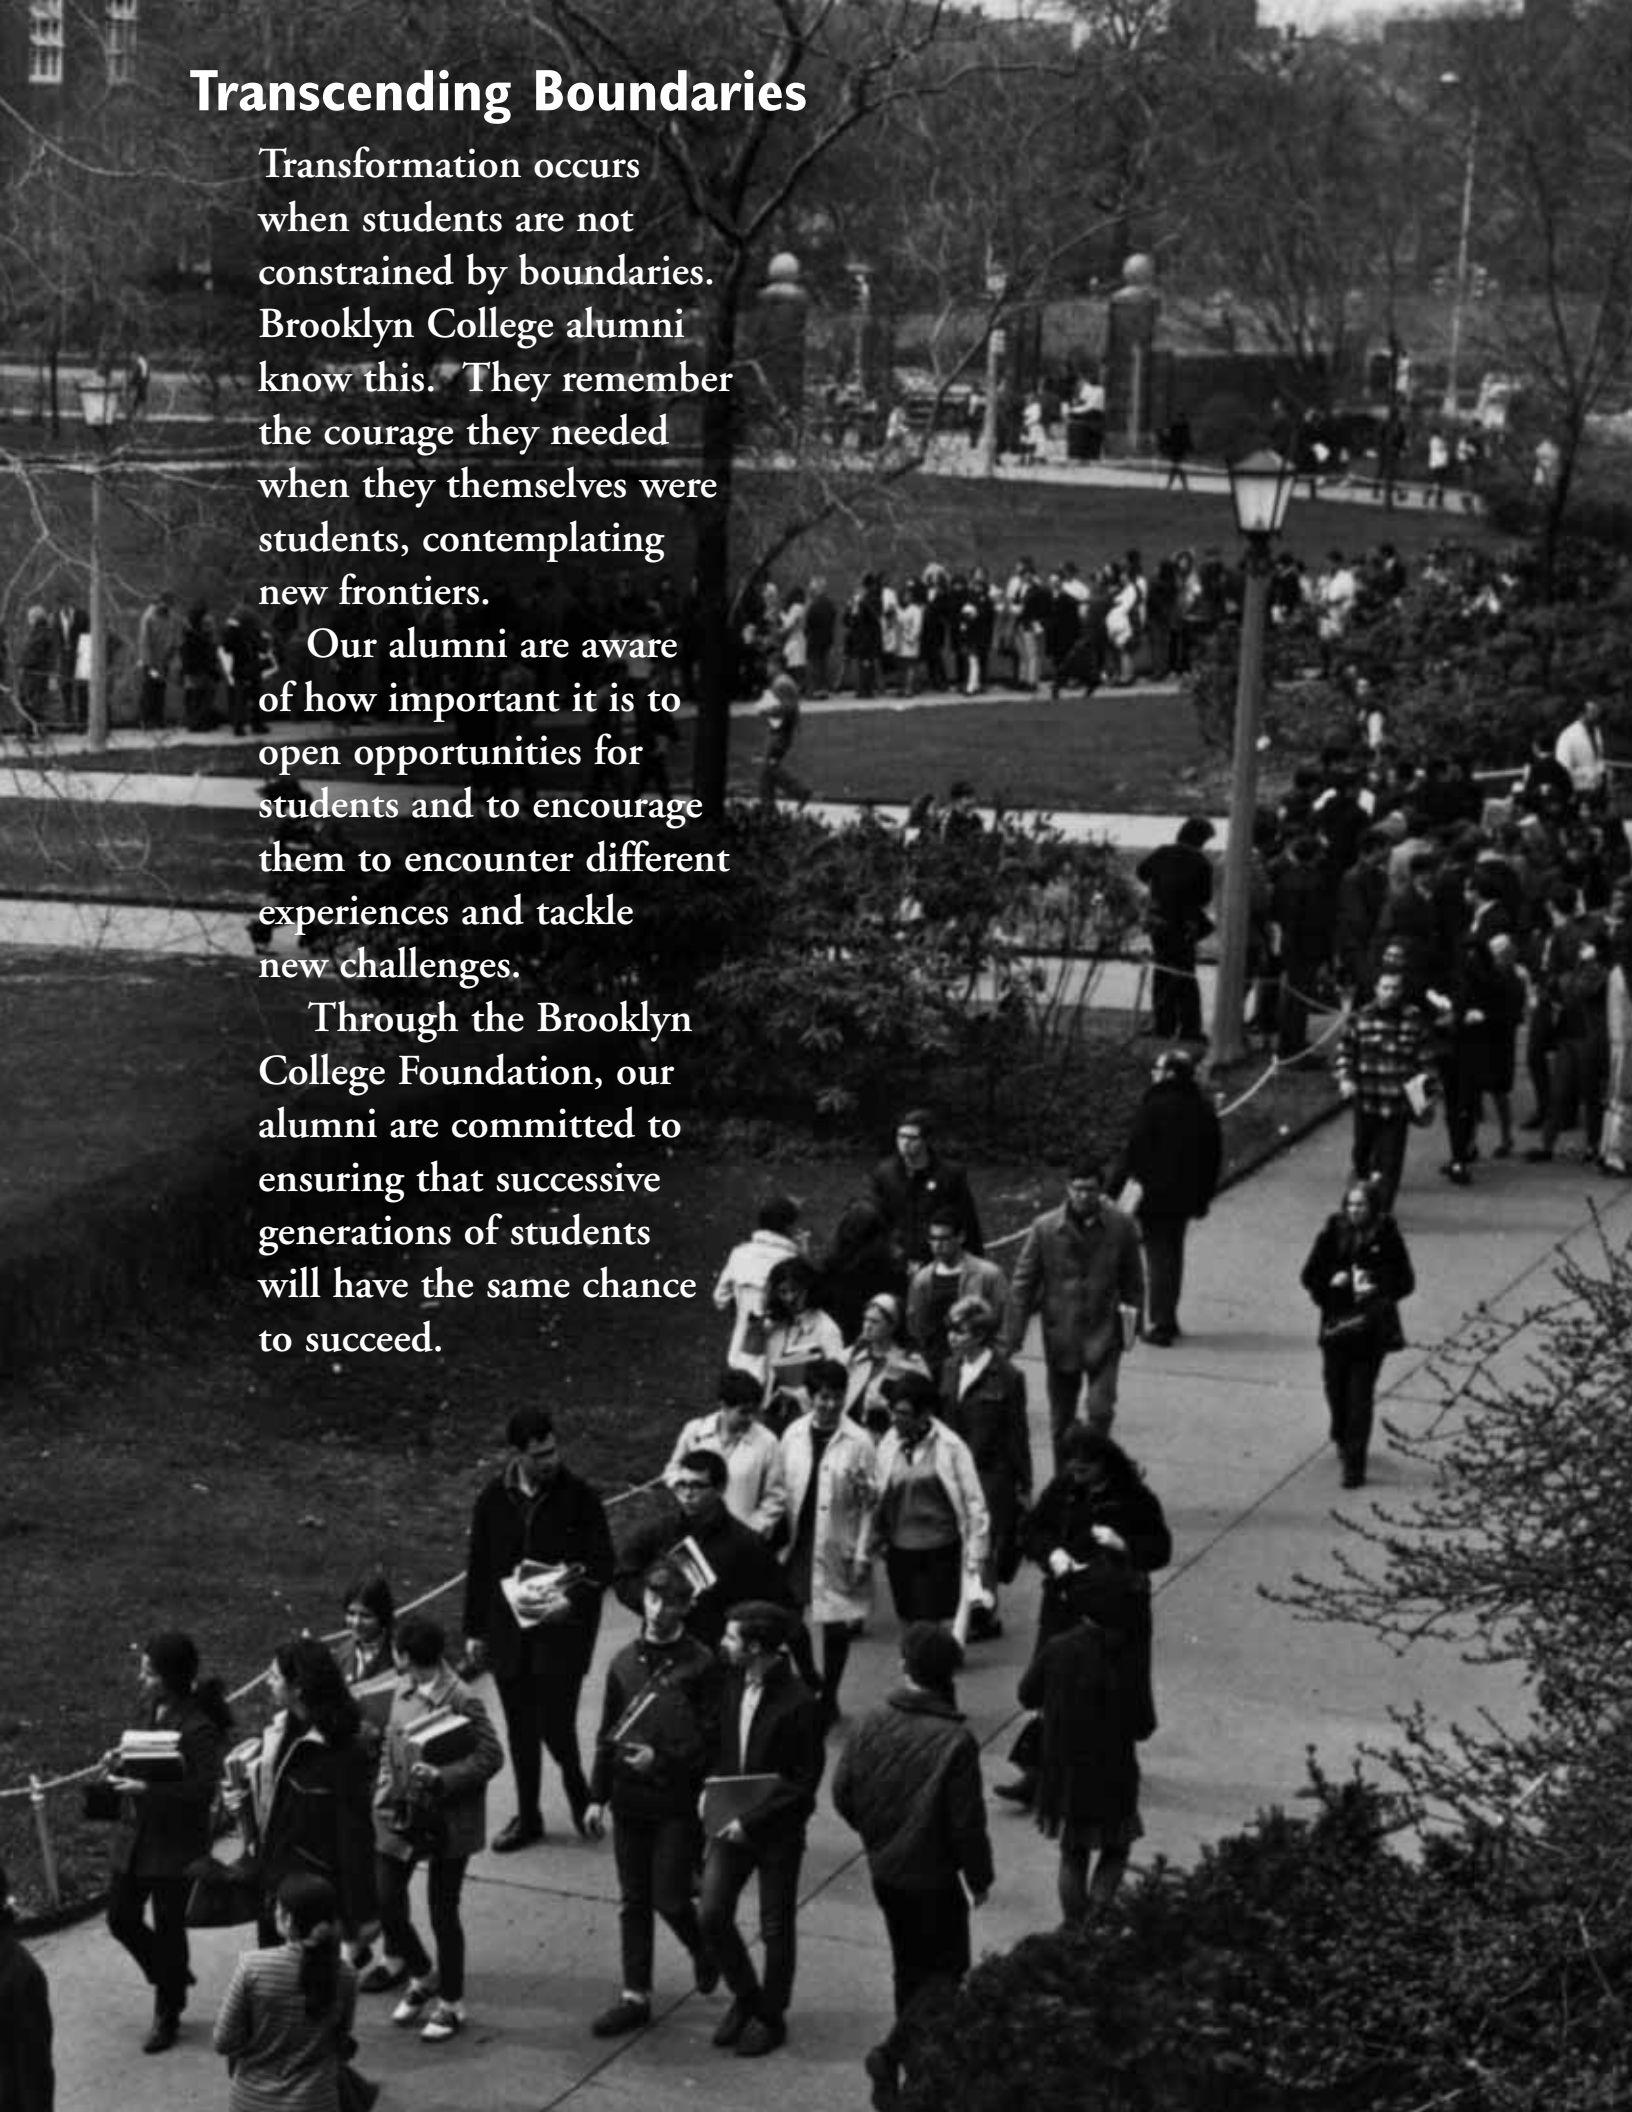

Transcending Boundaries

Transformation occurs when students are not constrained by boundaries. Brooklyn College alumni know this. They remember the courage they needed when they themselves were students, contemplating new frontiers.

Our alumni are aware of how important it is to open opportunities for students and to encourage them to encounter different experiences and tackle new challenges.

Through the Brooklyn College Foundation, our alumni are committed to ensuring that successive generations of students will have the same chance to succeed.

Endowed Chairs

The first endowed university chairs were created in 1502 at Oxford and Cambridge by Lady Margaret Beaufort, the grandmother of Henry VIII. Then—as now—the establishment of an endowed chair enables the benefactor to advance a college’s intellectual life. Chairs are awarded to distinguished scholars who have made original contributions to their discipline, and they serve as scholarly anchors in academic departments or programs. By virtue of their reputations, expertise, and collegiate fellowship, chairholders are charged with shaping academic opportunities for students that encourage high-quality work and rigorous discourse.

Three new chairs were added last year to the two already established at Brooklyn College:

Herb Kurz

Chair in Constitutional Rights

Herb Kurz, '41, the chairman, chief executive officer, and director of Presidential Life Insurance Co., has a commitment to constitutional and first-amendment issues that goes back to his college days. The establishment of this chair, to be housed in the Department of Political Science, will promote teaching and research in constitutional law, legal rights, ethics in the philosophy of law, and the organization of law in the United States.

Jay Newman

Chair in the Philosophy of Culture

Jay Newman, '68, was a much-admired professor of philosophy at the University of Guelph in Ontario. It was his strong belief that philosophy, rather than being confined to esoteric theory, should apply also to everyday concerns, especially to the impact of technology on modern society. Newman established the chair in the final months of his life, assuring a legacy to the department that guided and nurtured his own intellectual growth.

Carol and Larry Zicklin

Chair in Science

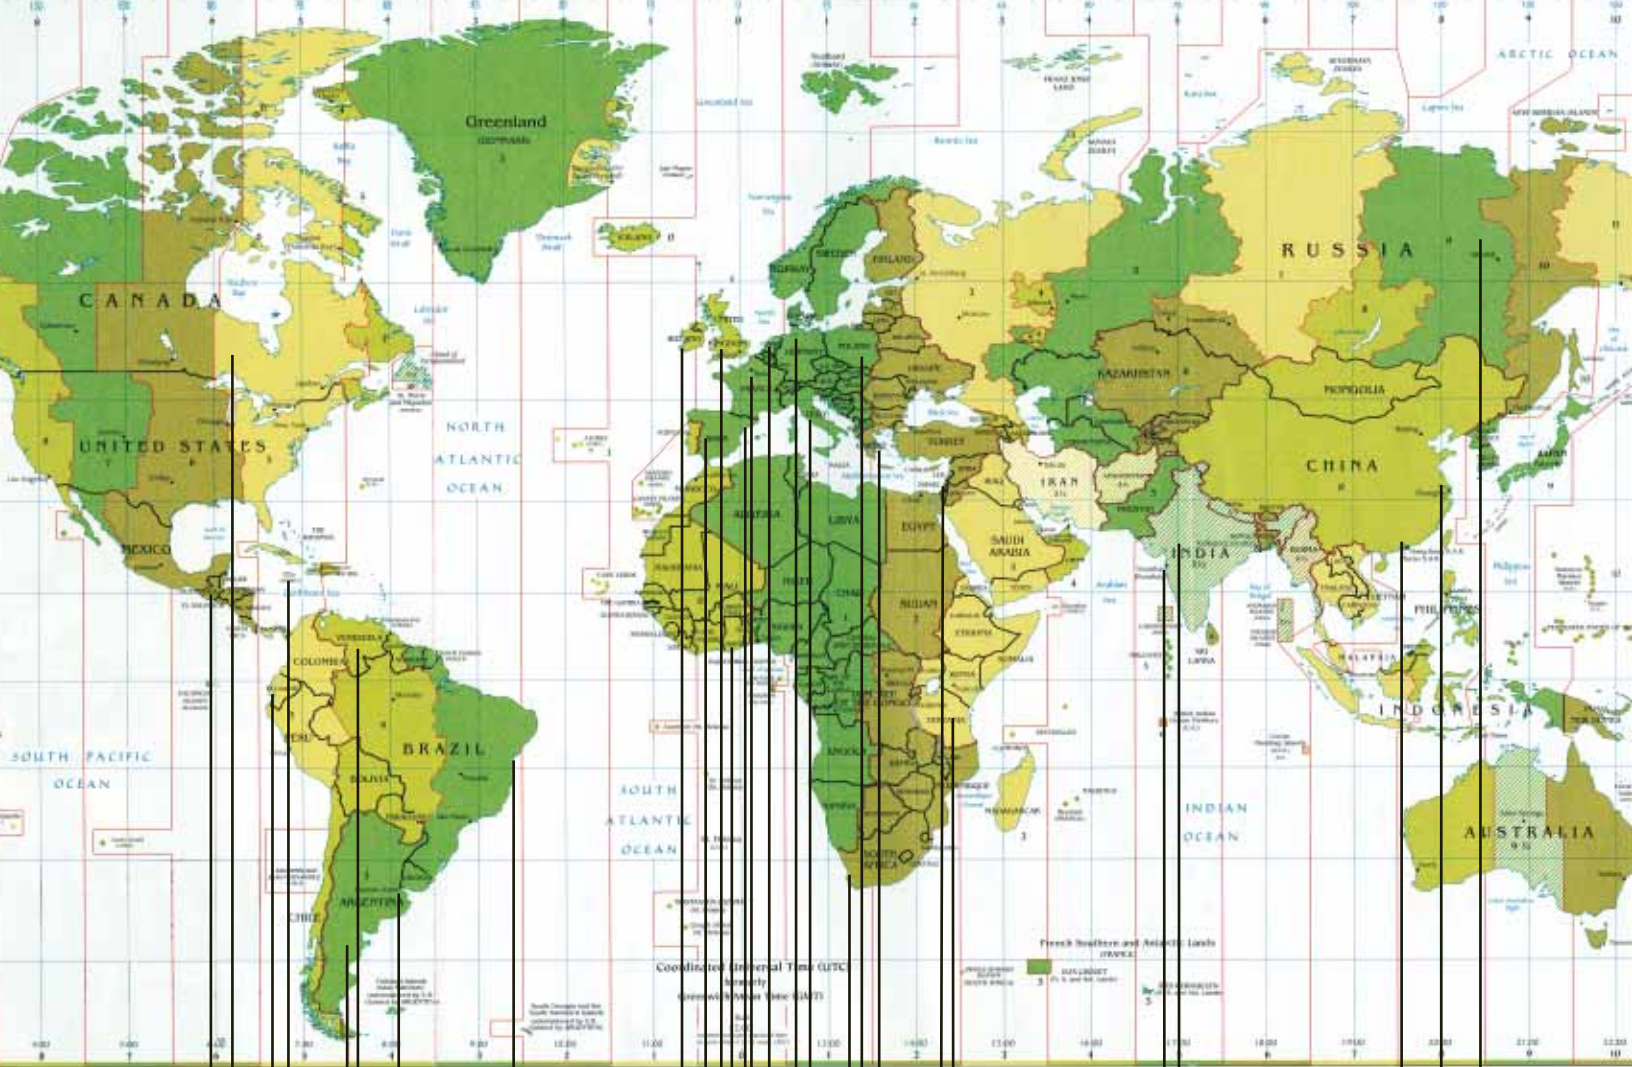

Carol Zicklin, '61, is a trustee of the Brooklyn College Foundation and has spent much of her life as a teacher and as a consultant to teachers of students with learning disabilities. In recent years, science has come to play an increasingly prominent role at the College, with significant new faculty appointments and the prospect of a new science building. By endowing a chair in science, the Zicklins are helping the College strengthen its ability to attract prominent scientists.

The Carol Zicklin Chair in the Honors Academy is currently held by sociologist Tammy Lewis (2008–2010), who specializes in environmental, conservation, sustainability, and globalization studies. The chair was first held by Lee Quinby (2005–2007), an intellectual historian working on apocalyptic and millennial systems of belief in American culture. She engaged undergraduates in a course in the historical envisioning of the apocalypse.

The Women's Studies Endowed Chair is currently held by Jeanne Theoharis (2007–2009), a political scientist highly regarded for her research on women in the civil rights movement. She has taken advantage of her position to sponsor a symposium on “Women in the Black Freedom Struggle,” drawing more than twenty noted scholars and former civil rights activists from around the country to the College. The inaugural holder of the chair was Premilla Nadasen (2006–2007), a scholar and author of Welfare Warriors: The Welfare Rights Movement in the United States (Routledge, 2005), which was awarded the 2005 John Hope Franklin Publication Prize by the American Studies Association for best book in American studies.

There is no substitute for experiencing the world. Many Brooklyn College students are the privileged recipients of travel opportunities to all corners of the globe. They return transformed by the experience, with a deep appreciation for other cultures and a new perspective on their own lives.

China

“I relish the amazing opportunity to make music and to collaborate with musicians from another culture and country. It was an honor to be invited to participate and it wouldn’t have been possible without your generosity.”—Andrea Caccese, graduate student in the Conservatory of Music, writing to the Brooklyn College Foundation. She was one of thirty-five students who traveled to Beijing, China, to participate in a weeklong pre-Olympics program, “Perform in Harmony—with Olympic Spirit.”

Ghana

“I would like to thank you for allowing me to have this experience. It has probably reshaped the type of physician I will be in the future. Within the FOCOS team, I saw how the knowledge, skill, and compassion individuals possessed were utilized. . . with the same ignited fervor.”—William Aibinder, '08, in his letter to the alumni who sponsored his FOCOS internship: Dr. Sol J. Barer, '68; Stephen, '67, and Fran, '73, Belasco; and Lester Petracca.

Travel Opportunities

Leonard Tow, '50, who, with his wife Claire, '52, created the first travel fellowships for students and faculty in 2000, remembered the first time he and his wife traveled overseas. “We were like every other kid in Brooklyn who stared across the Hudson and thought it was a foreign land.” Tow’s first experience abroad was as the recipient of a grant from the National Academy of Sciences to study in Zimbabwe. “Having lived a confined life until then,” he said, “I was meeting for the first time people living in all kinds of circumstances.”

Roy Furman, '60, created fellowships that specifically required students to travel outside the United States. “I remembered how provincial so many of us were because we didn’t have the resources to experience the world. I purposefully created the Furman Fellowship to encourage students to take advantage of an opportunity that would open their eyes and widen their vistas.”

Dr. Oheneba Boachie-Adjei, '76, a regular on New York Magazine’s list of the top twenty physicians in New York City, takes time from his practice to oversee the College’s prestigious internship with the Foundation for Orthopedics and Complex Spine (FOCOS). Two pre-med students are trained by Dr. Boachie-Adjei at his Manhattan office during the school term and then spend the summer with him at a clinic in Ghana. There, they help perform surgeries and treat musculoskeletal disorders. “I find that the students invariably extend themselves beyond their roles by doing everything from intake to being surgical attendants and keeping the surgeons informed with in-depth, PowerPoint presentations. The internship is very rewarding because it exposes our students to a variety of experiences they would not receive anywhere else.”

Alan Dershowitz

Tangible Gifts

The Brooklyn College Library has become an important center for archival research through the donation of materials and artifacts from alumni, faculty, and staff. Among them are the papers of renowned poet, playwright, and scholar William Alfred, '40, and of law professor Alan Dershowitz, '59; a collection of eighteenth-to-mid-twentieth-century manuscripts from Ethiopia and the Horn of Africa in the Robert L. Hess Collection on the Continent of Africa; and documents and memorabilia on the evolution of the borough of Brooklyn in the Brooklyniana Collection. For students and faculty, these holdings afford access to worlds beyond the reaches of the campus.

The Hank Kaplan Boxing Collection was donated to the College Library in spring 2008 by Hank Kaplan, a historian-journalist who was inducted into the World Boxing Hall of Fame in October 1994. Consisting of documents, memorabilia, photographs, and artifacts, it is the largest collection of its kind in the world.

Other tangible gifts provide students with much-needed assets and allow the College to remain competitive.

The Brooklyn College Foundation gratefully acknowledges the generous gift of Howard, '59, and Rebecca Slusher, which will provide all College athletic teams with state-of-the-art uniforms, athletic footwear, and equipment for three years.

“The collection is a valuable archaeological excavation for scholars. The story of America is in this archive. Boxing is a prism for our cultural history, and is important for its associations with immigration, ethnicity, class, race, and nationalism.”

A Pledge for the Future

At the October 1936 cornerstone laying of what became Roosevelt Hall, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt offered Brooklyn College a vision for its future when he said that it would “live through the generations to come for the building up of a better American citizenship.”

Brooklyn College alumni know well how much better their lives have been due to the opportunities provided by higher education. In turn, they left an indelible mark on the College. Generations of Brooklyn College graduates have generously given to the College, allowing such students as Amanda Perez to realize their dreams.

Seven decades after that historic cornerstone ceremony, the College stands out as a vibrant institution true to its original mission. The Brooklyn College Foundation is an essential partner in that mission: by supporting students, faculty, and programs, the Foundation allows the College to pursue its essential tradition of helping students transcend their everyday lives through the transformative nature of outstanding higher education.

Thank You!

The Trustees of the Brooklyn College Foundation are pleased to acknowledge the following donors whose gifts, made between July 1, 2007, and June 30, 2008, are empowering Brooklyn College students to achieve success.

Your generous gifts play a major role during this exciting era of growth and progress at Brooklyn College. Your support finances vital academic scholarships and internships, travel abroad programs for students and teachers, new technologies in our classrooms, and such major capital campaign projects as the completion of our new West Quad building and the construction of a new performing arts center on campus.

The Annual Fund

The Brooklyn College Foundation's Annual Fund secures annual gifts for unrestricted operating purposes. We are grateful to those individuals who made unrestricted gifts to the Annual Fund between July 1, 2007, and June 30, 2008.

“The Annual Fund serves as a renewable stream of sustainable revenue, enabling the College to meet current institutional priorities. Every Annual Fund dollar is available to be spent, and, therefore, has the immediate impact of twenty-five endowment dollars.”

Executive Committee

The Executive Committee comprises all officers and committee chairs and the president of Brooklyn College. The Executive Committee has all the powers of the board when the board is not in session. The Executive Committee considers key recommendations from the board committees listed below, and sets the agenda for the full board meeting.

Audit and Finance Committee

Barry Feirstein, Chair

The Audit and Finance Committee selects and works with the Foundation's auditors, currently Loeb & Troper, to ensure that the Foundation continues to meet nationally accepted auditing standards. In addition to reviewing the annual financial statements and budget, the committee examines employee policies and procedures to ensure Foundation compliance with CUNY best practices.

Development Committee

Howard Wohl, Chair

The Development Committee provides oversight of the fundraising activities of the Foundation, including monitoring the staffing and goal-setting of the Development Office. Members provide critical advice on alumni research, cultivation, solicitation, and stewardship. Notable accomplishments during the past year include:

- An increase of 52 percent, in the overall number of gifts received, from 5,006 in 2007 to more than 7,600 in 2008.
- An internal target of a 15 percent increase in giving over a three-year running average.
- Development of a new monthly giving club, the Boylan Society.
- Support for expanded major gift capacity, with the addition of new staff.
- Oversight of planning and feasibility for new campaign.

Investment Committee

Martin Sass, Chair

The Investment Committee is charged with prudently building the Foundation's endowment fund to secure the long-term future of Brooklyn College. Committee members are responsible for the development and periodic review of the fund's Investment Policies and Guidelines and for asset allocation to various investment strategies to achieve appropriate diversification of the fund's investments based on its needs and objectives. The committee selects, meets with, and manages a variety of outside professional investment managers, in consultation with an outside adviser and monitoring firm.

Governance and Nominating Committee
Myron Kandel, Chair

The Governance and Nominating Committee is charged with ensuring best-practice governance of the Foundation and continued development of the Foundation's board of trustees. Responsibilities include directing research for prospective board members and providing recommendations for new board candidates, for officers of the Foundation, and for honorary governors.

Performing Arts Center Committee
Don Buchwald, Chair

The Performing Arts Center Committee is charged with monitoring the Foundation's role in supporting the College's new project to build a state-of-the-art performing arts center for Brooklyn College. The committee members consulted on the design and construction of the center, helped to select the architectural team, set naming opportunities, and monitored the progress of the funding campaign.

Planned Giving Committee
Sam Beller, Chair

Planned Giving Committee members provide guidance and technical expertise on planned gifts and the solicitation of such gifts. In FY08 this committee spearheaded the implementation of expanded outreach and marketing efforts, which resulted in nearly $2.8 million in new revenue.

Student Life Committee
Zachary Solomon, Chair

The Student Life Committee engages Foundation trustees in campus activities and programs that enrich the lives of students. Foundation trustees are joined on this committee by key administrators, including the dean of undergraduate studies and the dean of student affairs, and two students who work with trustees to identify critical student needs. Notable accomplishments during the past year include:

- Leadership Forum—thirteen trustees participated in nine events with more than 461 students in attendance.
- Support for an academic advisement conference. The focus of the conference was to enhance the academic advisement team's ability to support student achievement and success; 125 advisers attended.
- Funding for SERVA, a College program that promotes and documents student volunteerism.

Brooklyn College Legacy Society

We honor and recognize the members of our Legacy Society, a group of generous alumni and friends who have named the Brooklyn College Foundation in their wills, trusts, life income gifts, insurance policies, or retirement plans. Legacy Society members are helping to advance the College's tradition of student success through their visionary gifts. We are grateful for their extraordinary commitment to securing the future of the College.

"Like so many others, I would not have been able to attend college if not for Brooklyn College, and I have always been grateful. I felt it was important to give something back to the school that means so much to me and laid the foundation for my success."

—Sam Beller, '59

Class of 1958 50th Reunion Gift

We are delighted to acknowledge those members of our Class of 1958 who celebrated their 50th graduation reunion by graciously giving back to Brooklyn College. Their generous contributions financed the installation of a waterfall that will serve as a filtration system for our beloved Brooklyn College Lily Pond. This wonderful class gift will not only serve to beautify the campus but will help to improve the environment for all members of the College community and future generations of students.

Boylan Society

This year marked the inauguration of our Boylan Society monthly giving program. We acknowledge our founding Boylan Society members, who have generously committed to donating monthly gifts to the Brooklyn College Foundation. These sustainable contributions serve as a predictable source of Annual Fund income that further enables the Foundation to meet the growing needs of the College and its students.

Houseplan Bench Gifts

We were touched by the generosity and thoughtfulness of those Houseplan members who funded benches alongside the Brooklyn College Lily Pond. These rare gifts serve to further beautify our campus and solidify connections to Brooklyn College, as well as support the success of our students. We are happy to acknowledge those individuals who contributed towards purchasing Houseplan benches this year.

“Most of us came from humble backgrounds, and Brooklyn College gave us the tools to achieve our goals. This is a simple and sincere way to say thanks, and a great way to create a lasting legacy at the College that meant so much to us.”

How You Can Support Brooklyn College

The Brooklyn College Foundation relies on the generosity of individuals, foundations, and corporations to help further Brooklyn College's mission of providing high-quality, affordable education. There are many ways that donors can support the Foundation's cause.

The Annual Fund

Annual gifts by alumni and friends to the Brooklyn College Foundation underwrite current needs that cannot be funded by state assistance, tuition, or fees. The College increasingly relies on such private contributions to strengthen its programs. Unrestricted gifts to the Annual Fund support academic scholarships, professorships and faculty research grants, improved campus facilities, cocurricular student-learning opportunities, and new technologies for classrooms and laboratories.

For more information about the Annual Fund, please contact Shara Richter, associate director of the Annual Fund, at 718.951.5074, or SharaG@brooklyn.cuny.edu.

The Legacy Society: Planned Gifts and Bequests

Members of the Brooklyn College Legacy Society share our vision of academic excellence for generations to come and help secure that vision by making a provision for the College in their estate planning. The Brooklyn College Foundation offers several future-oriented investment opportunities for those who want to carry forward the spirit of excellence at Brooklyn College, including life income trust, charitable lead trust, life insurance, or gifts of stock or real estate. Legacy Society members may also make planned gifts in the form of a bequest.

For more information about the Legacy Society or making a planned gift, please contact William Healy, senior philanthropy adviser, at 718.951.5074, or WHealy@brooklyn.cuny.edu.

The Boylan Society

The Boylan Society is the Brooklyn College Foundation's monthly giving program. When you join the Boylan Society, you authorize the Foundation to receive a monthly tax-deductible gift from your checking account or by credit card. This is a wonderful opportunity to provide dependable, enduring, and reliable support to your alma mater. You will no longer need to be concerned with renewal payments or reminder mailings. And since automatic monthly gifts do not require outreach efforts to secure, they are the most efficient way to sustain the level of academic excellence at Brooklyn College.

For more information about the Boylan Society, please contact Shara Richter, associate director of the Annual Fund, at 718.951.5074, or SharaG@brooklyn.cuny.edu.

Gifts Online

It is now easier than ever to make a donation to Brooklyn College! Just log on to the Brooklyn College Foundation website, www.brooklyncollegefoundation.org, and use our secure connection to make a tax-deductible gift with your credit card or debit card, with a MasterCard, American Express, or Visa logo. We also accept automatic fund transfers from your checking or savings account. It is a wonderful and convenient way to help us continue our work on behalf of Brooklyn College students.

Establishing a Scholarship, Award, or Prize

The Brooklyn College Foundation offers more than six hundred scholarships and awards—valued at nearly $2 million annually—that help to provide access and excellence to the best and most ambitious students. Within limits, a scholarship, award, or prize may reflect the specific wishes of a donor. Many funds have been established to honor a former student or a faculty member or to encourage students in a particular academic area. Establishing a scholarship, award, or prize can also be a very personal and special way to memorialize a loved one's interests.

For more information about establishing a scholarship, award, or prize, please contact Stephanie Ehrlich, associate director of stewardship, at 718.951.5074, or Sehrlich@brooklyn.cuny.edu.

Naming Opportunities

Brooklyn College offers a wide spectrum of naming opportunities intended to help you meet your philanthropic goals. Individuals or groups of donors may select from a menu of naming options ranging from commemorative bricks in front of our new West Quad building, to benches near our beloved Brooklyn College Lily Pond, to classrooms or lecture halls around campus. These are very special opportunities to leave a legacy at the College, while contributing to the success of future Brooklyn College students.

For more information about purchasing a commemorative brick, please contact Shara Richter, associate director of the Annual Fund, at 718.951.5074, or SharaG@brooklyn.cuny.edu.

For more information about all other naming opportunities around campus, please contact William Healy, senior philanthropy adviser, at 718.951.5074, or WHealy@brooklyn.cuny.edu.

Tributes and Memorials

The Brooklyn College Foundation Tribute and Memorial Program was created at your request as a means to offer special recognition to individuals who have made a difference in your life. A donation to the Tribute and Memorial Program gives you the opportunity to honor a loved one, friend, or business associate through a memorial gift or in tribute on an occasion of celebration, such as a birthday, anniversary, or retirement. A tribute gift may also be made as an expression of appreciation to a caregiver. The program is a meaningful way to express feelings of remembrance or gratitude.

For more information about tributes and memorials, please contact Shara Richter, associate director of the Annual Fund, at 718.951.5074, or SharaG@brooklyn.cuny.edu.

Matching Gifts: Double the Impact of Your Donation!

Each year, more than seven thousand corporations provide matching funds to educational and cultural organizations across the country. If you are affiliated with a company that matches its employees' contributions to higher education, you may be eligible to have your gift to the Brooklyn College Foundation matched. Because employers consider matching gifts a benefit to their employees, your company's human resources department or personnel office is the most likely source for specific information. Complete the matching-gift form provided by your employer and send it with your gift. The Foundation will process the company form and notify you when the match is received.
