

THE EARLY CHILDHOOD CENTER PROGRAMS

Consent I

In enrolling my child _____ in the Early Childhood Center, I do so with the full knowledge and understanding that the Programs provide educational and professional development opportunities for students at Brooklyn College and other CUNY campuses, and from private universities, as well. Educational and professional development activities include both site-based fieldwork experiences, as well as videoconferencing and distance learning opportunities.

The Early Childhood Center is an active participant in faculty research and development efforts, and provides a leadership role in identifying areas of inquiry. Research at the Center is closely linked to classroom practice and to our mission of teacher preparation and the education of other professionals who work with children. The Early Childhood Center initiate and participate in a range of research and development activities designed to further professional advances in the field of education, developmental psychology, and other allied academic fields. Results of all studies involving the Early Childhood Center Programs are made available to all parents/legal guardians.

In enrolling my child in the Early Childhood Center I agree to the use of all studies, photographs, films and videotapes made at the Center for professional development, distance learning, videoconferencing, research and other educational and scholarly purposes. I further agree to the publication of my child's artwork, writing, photographs, or other productions, and of any research studies deemed appropriate by the Early Childhood Center, Brooklyn College faculty and/or administration in print or on the web. Personal identifying data will not be revealed.

We encourage families to engage in conversation with us about projects at the Early Childhood Center, and welcome family participation in all Center activities.
